Many animals lay eggs.
Eggs can be strange
and beautiful.

These eggs are
in a nest of twigs
and soft grass.
They are a beautiful sky blue.
Do you know whose eggs these are?

These are robin eggs.

These tiny eggs are on the bottom of a leaf.
They can be round like pearls,
or they can be spiny.
Whose eggs are these?

They are butterfly eggs.

There are many eggs
in this tiny case.
It looks like
light brown cotton candy,
but it is made of silk.

Whose eggs are these?

They are spider eggs.
You can find them
near spider webs.

These large eggs aren't in a nest or case.
They sit on cold rocks.
But feathers help keep them warm.
Whose eggs are these?

These are penguin eggs.
Penguins keep eggs warm
with their feet and feathers.

This strange egg floats in the ocean.
It is inside a small, tough case.
Whose egg could this be?

This is a shark egg.

These eggs float
on a pond.
There are tiny
fish-shaped things
inside each egg.

Whose eggs are these?

They are not fish eggs.
They are frog eggs.
The fish-shaped things are tadpoles.
