Stella's mom came into the kitchen and saw the plate of cookies.

Only one was left!

"There were seven cookies on this plate," Mom said.

“Well, the first cookie went to take a nap,” Stella said.

“The second cookie went on a playdate,” Stella said.

“The third cookie went upstairs to take a bath,” Stella said.

“The fourth cookie grew wings and flew away,” Stella said.

“The fifth cookie got hungry
and ate the sixth cookie,” Stella said.

“The seventh cookie got hungry and ate the fifth,” Stella said.

“Or maybe Stella ate six cookies?” Mom asked. Stella put her hands on her tummy.

“My tummy really wanted them,” she explained.

“Your tummy can skip dessert tonight, then,” Mom said.

Stella held the plate out for her mom.

“But the seventh cookie saved itself for you!” she said.
